

Novas Group's brand new recruitment service has opened.

The service will recruit for temporary roles within both the support and commercial sectors, while permanent roles will range from administrators to marketing, workshop assistants and fashion shop assistants, across the arts, enterprise and support sectors.

The company provides an inclusive approach, which identifies competencies to match them to suitable roles, through proactive recruitment, selection and induction. During 2007 they extend their services to the wider community, to both employers looking for the right staff and individuals looking for the right jobs.